MP CALLS FOR ACTION TO STOP COVID SPREAD

Report by Henry James

CALLS for mandatory face coverings and covid safety measures to return to shops have been backed by West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper.

Shopworkers' trade union Usdaw is calling for the action and has asked that Government make important in-store safety measures mandatory to help reduce the spread of Covid-19, in light of rising infections, hospitalisations and deaths.

Rosie Cooper MP is backing the call, saying: "The UK has just recorded more than 50,000 Covid cases for the first time in over three months, yet the Government appears to be sitting idly by and allowing this spread."

"I am thoroughly in support of Usdaw's call for mandatory face masks and covid safety precautions to return to shops. It is truly scary to see that now there is no requirement to do so, the majority of people no longer wear a mask."

"Something has to be done to reduce the spread, and this change will go some way to protect staff at the shops and their customers." Paddy Lillis, Usdaw general secretary said: "Since the Government ended mandatory safety measures within shops, the wearing of face coverings, social distancing and hand sanitising have been in decline. Protection for retail workers through customers following Covid safety rules should be backed up by the law and not left to individual choice, if we are going to avoid further lockdown measures."

'It's truly scary to see majority of people not wearing face masks in shops'

"Without clear direction from the Government, we continue to ask employers to think about their duty of care to staff and promote safety measures to the shopping public. We also ask customers to show their support and respect for shopworkers by wearing face coverings, observe hand hygiene and maintain social distancing."

"Wearing a face covering is an important measure to help protect workers who have no option but to interact with the public. Retail workers are at a greater risk of catching the virus and bringing it home to their families."

"They have worked throughout the pandemic to keep the country fed and deserve to be valued, respected and protected."

● PARENTS in the North West can now book Covid-19 vaccinations online for their 12-15 year old children.

The booking service will provide an additional option for parents to book a vaccine for their child, alongside the schools programme which has already vaccinated children in more than one-third of the region's schools.

If a child has already been invited through their school but hasn't yet been vaccinated, they do not need to act on their invite through the national booking system unless parents wish to get their child vaccinated outside of school.

Parents are being advised to keep checking the NHS.uk website as more appointments and sites become available.

Letters will be sent to parents and guardians of children aged 12 - 15 over the coming weeks inviting them to book the vaccine online or by calling 119.

Spooky goings-on - StarKidz Entertainment

Market is all fright!

THERE will be some "super-spooky goings-on" at Ormskirk Market with a free Halloween fun day for all the family.

StarKidz Entertainment will be hosting their Trick or Treat Trail where children can hunt for spooky characters among the stalls and shops before joining a Halloween party with treats and dancing. Also present will be Mr Stix to host a Halloween-themed show.

Councillor Ian Moran, leader of West Lancashire Borough Council, said: "It's through initiatives like this that we can help the high street recover from a very difficult time, so everyone wins."

The event is funded by The Welcome Back Fund to support the safe return to high streets and help 'build back better' from the pandemic.

The Ormskirk event will take place on Thursday, October 28 between 11am and 3pm and is free to attend.

StarKidz Entertainment and a face painter will also stage a Halloween event at Sandy Lane Shopping Centre, Skelmersdale on Friday, October 29.

First ever Rural Crime Roadshow is hailed a success

More than 100 pieces of farm equipment security marked to make it easier to trace them if stolen

Report by Henry James

A RURAL crime roadshow which saw Lancashire Police visit villages, rural towns and farms has been hailed a success with more than 100 pieces of equipment security marked to make it easier to trace them should they be stolen.

The event was the first of its kind as South Rural Taskforce visited villages and key rural areas across south Lancashire including Ormskirk and Skelmersdale, inviting farmers and rural communities to meet the team, have their farming equipment marked and share general rural crime prevention advice about keeping themselves and their property safe.

The main focus of the rural roadshow was to property mark rural equipment to make it easier to trace should they be stolen and over the week more than 100 pieces of equipment were marked including GPS units, quadbikes, trailers chainsaws and tractors.

Rural Taskforce officer PC Helen Williams said: "As a team we have thoroughly enjoyed hosting the roadshow and found it a positive way of engaging with our rural residents, offering crime prevention advice and security marking valuable pieces of

"Speaking to farmers, hearing their concerns and sharing our contact details so that they can get in touch directly, has provided reassurance to the community that the taskforce is listening to them and working hard to prevent crime in this area."

The Rural Taskforce was set up in March 2021 with an additional 20 officers dedicated to rural communities across Lancashire to target, disrupt and address crime in rural communities.

‘Eyesore’ building set to be turned into apartments

Plans unveiled to convert former college building and Learning Centre into 55 flats

Report by Henry James

A FORMER college and hospital building, which has been branded an ‘eyesore’ and survived a demolition bid in 2019, is set to be refurbished as part of ambitious proposals to create 55 apartments near Ormskirk town centre.

The former Ormskirk College campus on Hants Lane has been empty in recent years, and is included in planning documents which have been received by West Lancashire Borough Council.

The application also involves converting the former Learning Centre, which fronts onto Derby Street, and sits on the same plot of land, into accommodation.

This site has been vacant for quite some time and requires 24 hour on site security to deter anti-social behaviour.

There used to be a Cottage Hospital on part of the site.

Plans show the front part of the building at Hants Lane is predominantly single storey. There are three outriggers within the courtyard area which would be demolished.

A parcel drop off point would be included and there would be room for a mobile hairdresser/community care and recreation room.

The ground floor will be turned into 21 apartments including 11 one-bed apartments, 10 two-bed apartments, nine of which will be elderly/accessible.

The first floor will provide 13 apartments, while the second floor will be converted into nine apartments.

In the Derby Street development there would be a new pharmacy.

On the ground floor there would be three apartments, which would include two one-bed apartments and one two-bed apartment. One of these will be elderly accessible.

The first floor will provide five apartments (including two one-bed apartments, one two-bed apartment and two three-bed apartments. One of which will be elderly/accessible).

The second floor will provide four apartments, including three one-bed apartments and one two-bed apartment.

Council calls for ‘urgent review of business rates’ to help high streets

‘Radical overhaul’ needed as system places too much burden on shops

Report by Henry James

COUNCILLORS at West Lancashire Borough Council are calling for Chancellor of the Exchequer, Rishi Sunak, to carry out an “urgent review of business rates” to help shops and businesses trying to recover from the pandemic.

Most non-domestic properties, like: shops; offices; pubs; warehouses; factories; and holiday rental homes or guest houses are charged business rates which are worked out through the rateable value of a property and the subsequent multiplier.

Critics say the system is outdated because it does not take into account the growth of online retail, the decrease in physical shop footfall in recent years and the move to home-working.

Some of these issues have heightened during the pandemic.

Cllr Gareth Dowling has put forward a motion stating that the council believes retail is among the sectors most affected by the pandemic and that the need for social distancing has changed the way many businesses operate reducing footfall.

The motion adds: “The pan-

demic has accelerated what in many cases has been a longer trend of lower footfall and changing shopping habits.

“This council welcomes the willingness of Government to acknowledge the problems and come forward with initiatives in response to these challenges such as the furlough scheme, the Covid support business loans, and grants and the High Street Taskforce.”

It states that the current system of business rates needs a “radical overhaul” as it “places an unfair burden on ‘bricks and mortar’ businesses compared to online ones.”

Police vow to clamp down on 'Max Power' drag race meet-ups

Specialist officers to be deployed in bid to prevent gatherings taking place amid concern from residents

Report by Henry James

LANCASHIRE Police say they are deploying officers to prevent more drag race meet-ups taking place in Pimbo, Skelmersdale.

Residents have reported an increase in the number of 'Max Power' car meet-ups taking place recently.

It involves people meeting in their cars to race and do stunts on the roads.

West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper urgently raised the matter with the Chief Inspector for West Lancashire Chris Abbott who told her that they are dealing with the issue "as a priority" and have developed a process whereby local police and specialist tactical operations officers will be deployed to the area with a focus on prevention, stopping these gatherings from taking place.

Ms Cooper said: "Residents of Skelmersdale should not have to fight for space on the roads with these illegal races.

"The organisers and participants of the events are selfishly and irresponsibly putting themselves and others at risk as well as causing anti-social noise and nuisance.

"I am pleased to hear that the police are cracking down on these organised meet-ups."

Chief Inspector Chris Abbott.

The MP added that she has requested a Public Space Protection Order to prevent any further gatherings taking place.

Public Spaces Protection Orders (PSPOs) are intended to deal with nuisance or problems in an area that causes harm to the quality of life of the local community.

PSPOs can be enforced by police officers, police community support officers and council officers (including individuals they designate powers to), with fixed penalty notices up to £100 issued to those who breach the order.

Merseyrail marks 50 years

RAIL operator Merseyrail has marked 50 years since its name first appeared on trains.

It was in October 1971 that 'Merseyrail' was first painted onto the side of trains in the Liverpool City Region. Pupils have celebrated this anniversary by designing birthday cards congratulating the rail operator on 50 years of service to local people and visitors alike.

The name 'Merseyrail' was created by the British Rail Liverpool Division following the creation of The Mersey Railways Extensions Act, and it was decided that a new name was needed due to the local nature of how our rail systems were operated. The network was divided into four separate segments – Exchange, Central Low-Level, Central and Lime Street – and it was decided that the routes would be renamed Northern, Wirral and City lines.

It was not just the name that changed, however, as the development of the brand involved a series of initiatives including service improvements, fares

Merseyrail has marked its 50 year anniversary simplification and publicity and advertising.

Andy Heath, managing director for Merseyrail, said: "During the last 50 years the Merseyrail brand has gone from strength to strength – from creation to the upcoming roll-out of the new fleet of trains. "It is a privilege to serve the people of the Liverpool City Region and our performance is a result of the hard work and dedication shown by our staff day-in, day-out.

"Being recognised for our punctuality and winning multiple awards is an honour and I'm sure the best is yet to come."

You can nominate your 'Health Hero'

2021 has been another challenging year for NHS staff coping with the demands of Covid-19.

Patients and their families are being invited to nominate a member of staff or team from Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust as this year's People's Health Hero in the organisation's annual Time to Shine staff awards.

Managing director Anne-Marie Stretch said: "We receive many hundreds of compliments a year from patients and their families for the care they've received.

"The People's Health Hero Award is an opportunity to make a very public thank you for the very best care by our staff. This is your opportunity to recognise them."

Nominations for the People's Health Hero Award are open until midnight on Sunday, November 14 <https://freurlshortener.net/K4I> or in writing to the Chief Executive at: Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust, Town Lane, Kew, Southport, PR8 6PN.

Takeaway proves it is hot stuff!

TARLETON Tandoori takeaway staff say they are delighted after picking up a national award for their food.

The eatery picked up the Best Curry Takeaway prize in this year's prestigious National Curry Awards - staged by Curry Life magazine at a glittering event at London's Royal Lancaster Hotel.

Speaking after the ceremony, owner Abdul Rashid said: "What a great tribute for us to be recognised in this way. The past couple of years have been extremely challenging for businesses like ours and it is marvellous to emerge from such difficult times with such a top award.

"I believe this shows the value of focussing on takeaway as a stand-alone service rather than an add-on to a restaurant. It means we can invest in specialist staff and equipment amongst other advantages."

He added: "Our success is very much a team effort – and is all about giving our customers the quality of service that they demand and deserve. I'd like to thank everyone who has played a part in achieving this top honour."

The Curry Life Awards celebrate the unique fusion cuisine of Indian food in the UK and are part of a wider organisation that organises the British Curry Festival around the world.

Children help launch new leaflet on 'hidden gems' of railway line

Report by Henry James

SCHOOLCHILDREN gathered at Burscough Junction railway station to launch a new promotional leaflet guide for the West Lancashire Line.

The guide is called 'Make A Bee Line for the West Lancashire Line' and is packed full of ideas for what to do along the whole route from Preston to Liverpool.

The guide has been produced by the Lancashire and West of Lancashire Community Rail Partnership and pupils from St John's RC Primary School attended the launch at the station as they have adopted one of its disused platforms.

The school worked with community artist, Karen Allerton on a project called a 'Positive Train of Thought' and the artwork is on display on the disused platform along with bee friendly flowers in the planters.

A group of pupils caught the train to Rufford on the day and walked back to school along the Leeds and Liverpool and Rufford Branch canals.

West of Lancashire CRP, chair Marion Atkinson said: "This line is a hidden gem offering fascinating days out and it's great to see the school playing its part in making this station look even more attractive as we welcome back passengers to the railway."

St John's RC Primary School at Burscough Junction with the new leaflets

St John's RC Primary School deputy head Claire Smith added: "St John's has been delighted to be a part of this project working alongside Community Rail Lancashire.

"Through this project, we have been able to talk about and reflect on this time, recognise what we have learned about how to look after ourselves and our friends and neighbours through developing and taking responsibility for looking after areas in our local community."

Parks continue to fly the flag for West Lancashire after receiving special accolade

Beacon Country Park and Coronation Park yet again awarded Green Flag Status

Report by Henry James

Beacon Country Park and (inset) Councillor Yvonne Gagen

BEACON Country Park in Up Holland and Coronation Park in Ormskirk have again been awarded Green Flag status.

After 18 months that have seen parks and green spaces play a vital role for people through lockdowns as a place to relax, exercise and meet friends and family safely, the borough council say that the parks being awarded the Green Flag Award is, "testament to the hard work and dedication of the Countryside Rangers, council officers and volunteers that make the parks great spaces that everyone can enjoy".

The Beacon was first awarded Green Flag status in 2007 and Coronation Park in 2008.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, cabinet member for leisure and human resources, said: "The Beacon, with its natural beauty and breath-taking views and Coronation Park with its bandstand and outdoor facilities are just two examples of the beautiful green spaces on our doorstep we can explore for free."

"Congratulations to everyone at West Lancashire Borough Council who work hard all year long to keep them at their best, particularly the Rangers team, the Clean and Green Team and all our amazing volunteers."

Commenting on the news that the parks have achieved the Green Flag Award standard, Green Flag Award Scheme manager Paul Todd said: "I would like to congratulate everyone involved in making Beacon Country Park and Coronation Park worthy of a Green Flag Award."

"To meet the requirements demanded by the scheme is testament to the hard work of the staff and volunteers who do so much to ensure that the Parks have high standards of horticulture, safety and environmental management and are places that support people to live healthy lives."

The Green Flag Award scheme, managed by environmental charity Keep Britain Tidy under licence from the Department for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities, recognises and rewards well-managed parks and green spaces, setting the benchmark standard for the management of green spaces across the United Kingdom and around the world.

University lit up purple to support World Polio Day

EDGE Hill University illuminated its main building in purple to support Ormskirk Rotary's Purple4Polio campaign on World Polio Day on Sunday, October 24.

The lighting up of the building was to support The Rotary Club of Merseyside and South Lancashire's continued efforts to eradicate polio worldwide, a campaign that has seen huge success since it began in 1985.

Edge Hill joined locations all over the world in highlighting the global fight against the disease.

Purple was chosen as it represents the colour of the dye placed on a child's finger to show they have been immunised against the disease.

Pro Vice-Chancellor and Dean of the Faculty of Health Clare Austin said: "We are proud to be supporting our local group in their campaign to end polio around the world."

"As one of the largest providers of health education, we recognise the importance of tackling health inequalities and promoting health and wellbeing around the world and much of our work supports this aim."

"This campaign resonates with our values and we extend our thanks to the Rotary members for their continuous work to eradicate this disease."

Since the Rotary and its partners launched the Global Polio Eradication Initiative more than 30 years ago, rates of the disease have plummeted.

David Hartley said: "For many years, Rotary clubs around the world have encouraged the owners of buildings and landmarks worldwide to light up their buildings as a focus for the global fight against poverty."

"I'm proud that the Rotary has been at the forefront of the battle against polio."

More than half a million Covid-19 booster jabs given across North West

MORE than half a million top up Covid-19 jabs have been delivered in the North West in a month, as the NHS vaccination rollout continues to protect those most at risk from coronavirus.

A total of 548,933 top ups have been administered since the programme began on September 20.

Nationally, four million booster jabs have been given – more than double the rate of the initial rollout in December.

People over 50, frontline healthcare and social care staff and those with underlying health conditions in the North West are being invited to book their jab when they become eligible.

The number of sites offering the booster vaccine in the region continues to expand, with more than 300 vaccine services approved to give the top-up dose, including pharmacies, hospital hubs, GP practices and vaccination centres.

Martial arts master Michael wins British Muay Thai Boxing title

'I put myself through hell to prepare for this but it was worth it'

A MARTIAL arts ace from Burscough has become the British Muay Thai Boxing Champion.

Michael Scarisbrick, 25, picked up the recognition at the Poulton Victoria in Wallasey after beating Connor Bourne from Oldham.

Muay Thai boxing is a martial art characterised by the combined use of fists, elbows, knees and shins.

Following his victory, Michael said: "That was my first belt that I've fought for and also won."

"There was no other feeling like winning the title. You experience the highest of highs!"

"You dedicate your life to a sport for eight weeks, you put yourself through hell to be prepared for that one night."

"It takes discipline, dedication and a lot of hard work."

"When you come out on top the sense of self achievement is out of this world."

"I've been doing Muay Thai and Thai boxing for just more than four years and my goals are to keep pushing myself and working towards bigger belts."

Rail service to Manchester should carry on to Piccadilly

New bridge over railway could be the only long term solution

I am a regular user of the Southport to Manchester rail service. Keeping an hourly service to Manchester Oxford Road station, as announced, will aid a significant number of shoppers, students and commuters compared with previous plans to send all the town's Manchester traffic to Victoria Station and it will provide a Metrolink tram connection to various south Manchester destinations.

However, taking Southport trains past Salford Crescent pushes them through the congested 'pinch point' between Deansgate and Manchester Oxford Road which was meant to be the reason for the routing change which was originally proposed.

There is no logic in not having trains from Southport and Wigan carry on a couple of minutes more from Manchester Oxford Road through to Piccadilly.

The bottom line is that travellers from Blackpool are still being treated as priority for good fast connections and Southport gets the leftovers.

Piccadilly station itself is not much use to many Southport travellers but the logic would be to give Southport a share of the trains which go to Manchester Airport down one line from Oxford Road through Piccadilly - where there are no trains at the moment - and to Stockport and Crewe down the other where the present service is going to be scrapped.

It would also help if Northern Rail did not keep cancelling Manchester - Southport trains at the last moment due to engine failure or lack of drivers.

Cllr Tony Dawson,
Southport

The railway bridge on Derby Street is, in its present condition, a safety hazard, particularly to pedestrians.

I voiced my opinion, formally, during the Lancashire County Council consultation.

It has already been admitted, by LCC, that the bridge is weak and needs remedial work doing.

What I don't understand is why the work should be undertaken by, and paid for by the county council.

It is a railway bridge and its structure is solely the responsibility of Network Rail, the engineering experts in such structures.

Recently, Bridge Street railway bridge was discovered to be weak and Network Rail closed it to all traffic and had to carry out work anchoring the bridge to its foundations.

This could prove to be the problem with Derby Street bridge, as both bridges were built in 1848.

I have measured the carriageway and footpaths on Derby Street bridge and they are not of the standard required by the requirements of the regulations now in force.

An obvious answer would be a separate footbridge, as is the case with the bridge on Bridge Street.

However, the remedial work on the bridge will require the closing of the railway bridge.

Ormskirk's Derby Street bridge will have a single lane of traffic.

That raises the big question as to where does the traffic on Derby Street divert to?

Perhaps reverse the flow of traffic on Railway Road? That could cause problems at the junction with Moor Street.

A possible long term solution would be to have a new bridge across the railway, not replacing the old bridge, but crossing from the soon to be demolished bus station, perhaps diagonally, to the junction of Railway Road and Derby Street.

It would take most of the traffic off the old bridge going to St Helens Road and restore Knowsley Road back to the quiet residential street it was meant to be.

If the new road bridge was two way, Derby Street could become two way and take traffic bound for Burscough Street.

The bridge would, of course, be another Network Rail project.

These are only suggestions in the hope of widening the debate, stimulating other suggestions and solutions, and, hopefully, preventing the ensuing disaster on Derby Street.

Investment in youth services needed to reduce knife crime

Barnardo's is having to support children as young as nine who are being criminally exploited, and we are deeply concerned that without Government action the problem will spiral even further out of control.

During the pandemic we have seen organised gangs grooming young people and encouraging them to carry drugs and weapons.

These children are victims and need the right support to help them recover, rather than being criminalised.

Yet evidence from our frontline workers shows children and families across England can experience months of exploitation, fear and violence before help arrives.

We know that children who have already had a tough start in life are particularly vulnerable, including those in foster care and residential care, and children who have been excluded from school.

That is why we are calling on the Government to change the law so that children who are being exploited by gangs are identified and supported early.

It is also vital that this month's Spending Review includes long-term, sustainable funding for local areas to invest in youth services, counselling and other support for young people at risk.

We believe there is a lack of understanding and consistency among professionals including the police, social care and health workers about how to identify and support these young people.

This is leading to vulnerable young people being criminalised rather than safeguarded.

That is why Barnardo's is calling on the Government to make changes to the Police, Crime, Sentencing and Courts Bill so that every local area develops a strategy to tackle child criminal exploitation and serious youth violence.

We also want the Government to increase specific funding for youth services.

Research carried out by ourselves and Redthread on behalf of the All-Party Parliamentary Group on Knife Crime and Violence Reduction before the pandemic showed how areas experiencing the largest reduction in spending on young people have seen bigger increases in knife crime.

Two years on we believe the problem is even worse.

Michelle Lee-Izu
Interim co-chief executive, Barnardo's

Scammer pretended to a police officer to fleece elderly woman

Caller told victim he was investigating fraud and told her to go to bank and withdraw 3,500Euros

Report by Henry James

FRAUD detectives have issued a warning after reports of scammers targeting older people in Lancashire.

In the past three weeks Lancashire Police have received reports of fraudsters telephoning victims pretending to be police officers and fraudulently obtaining cash through what is known as courier fraud.

So far, the reports have been from pensioners in the Blackburn and Lancaster areas but in the last couple of days the Preston area has been targeted.

An offender using the name PC Langley, collar number 0144, has contacted three victims in the past week and unfortunately on one occasion managed to fraudulently obtain 3,500Euros.

This incident happened on Tuesday (October 19) when a woman in her 80s received a phone call from a man claiming to be PC Martin Langley investigating fraudulent activity on her bank account.

The caller instructed the victim to go to the bank and withdraw 3,500Euros claiming it was needed as evidence. When she returned, a man visited her home address in the Hutton area at around 5.30pm to collect the cash.

The man, posing as a courier, gave the victim a pre-approved codeword in an attempt to validate his credibility. He is described as Asian, around 20 years old, of slim build, wearing a navy jacket and dark coloured trousers.

Earlier in the week two other elderly women, also from Preston, reported receiving phone calls from a fraudster claiming there had been suspicious activity on their bank cards at Asda.

Thankfully, one victim terminated the call before disclosing bank or credit card information and another victim was refused an attempted transaction at the bank.

DI Mark Riley from Lancashire Police said: "Lancashire has suffered a spike in courier fraud in the last three weeks with nine reported losses and more than 25 attempts. The total loss is estimated to be more than £35,000.

"Victims are often elderly and caught off guard by expert criminals who use ruthless tactics to convince victims to act immediately and pressure them.

"This coupled with imitating police officers is what makes people believe the lies fed to them."

The police will never ask for bank details or those of people's loved ones. If residents suspect a fraud is taking place or something is not quite right, they should always disconnect the call.

Whooper Swans now back from Iceland

At Martin Mere, in October, we always celebrate the return of the pink-footed geese but, as we head into November, we look forward to welcoming back our whooper swans.

The swans usually start arriving in large numbers in the first half of November and build to a peak in January and February. This year, some of the whoopers arrived earlier than usual and we have had up to 150 birds for the last three weeks.

Just like the pink-footed geese, the whooper swans that winter in West Lancashire also come from Iceland. They are cousins of our resident Mute Swan but, instead of having a red bill, have a yellow bill, with the patch of yellow differing between individuals.

It is the different patches of yellow which has enabled us to identify individual birds by recording their bill patterns. This allowed their movements, to and from Iceland, to be monitored year to year and also allowed for family ties to be identified between birds.

Nowadays, the birds are studied through the use of plastic leg rings, printed with large numbers. Our monitoring staff and volunteers keep track of the birds and enter the ring numbers into a database for record keeping. Visitors to Martin Mere can also make use of the database in our Discovery Hide, where an interactive display allows visitors to enter the ring numbers they can see.

Once a ring number is entered, details of the bird's life history are displayed; including when the bird first came to Martin Mere, which bird it is mated with and how many offspring it has produced over the years.

It is really easy to read the rings, especially when they come right up to the hides at our daily swan feeds, which start at 3pm every day and which are one of the best winter wildlife spectacles in the UK.

In other bird news, visitors to our Bird Fair turned up a number of good birds including snow goose, great egret, bittern, willow tit and brambling, as well as the continued starling murmuration and the pink-footed geese coming in to roost. Both the bittern and the great egret were even seen within the fenced area of the Martin Mere wildfowl collection in the Wild Walk area. This is a first for the site and, with little egret and grey heron, now takes the number of species of herons seen in the grounds to four.

Church to exhibit collection of quilts made during lockdown to support NHS

Report by Henry James

ORMSKIRK Parish Church will host an unusual collection of hand-made quilts produced during the lockdowns of the last year by more than 140 people across the country as part of the NHS campaign project 'Threads of Survival'.

Rev Pauline Bicknell, Vicar of Ormskirk Parish Church, and Mary Whitby, Member of Save Liverpool Women's Hospital Campaign, are both really looking forward to seeing people's reactions to the quilts.

Pauline said: "I can't wait to see them in person as the photos are beautiful and when you see the amount of work that has gone into making them it is quite breath-taking to see. We are so pleased to be able to display them in the Parish Church in Ormskirk."

Threads of Survival is a timely collection of creative textiles produced as a national project that invited people to tell their stories and experiences of the pandemic, and also to express the importance of the NHS in their lives.

Led by national campaign organisation, 999 Call for the NHS, the project now has 19 quilts made by groups from across the country.

A community quilt from Southport For The Love Of Scrubs group is part of the exhibition.

Angie Frith, organiser of the 'For The Love of

One of the Threads of Survival quilts

Scrubs' group was intrigued by the call for quilters and mentioned it to their group who all live in the Sefton area.

Angie said: "When we heard about Threads of Survival, I thought it would be something that our sewing group could get behind."

"Our quilt was an important way of bringing people together during the awful lockdown period and now we are seeing our work added to that of others around the country. It's a lovely project to support and be part of."

The quilts will be on display in Ormskirk Parish Church, every day 12-3pm from Tuesday November 2 until Sunday, November 14.

Free school meal vouchers offered during half term

FAMILIES in West Lancashire whose children receive benefits-related free school meals will receive vouchers to help with the costs of food during the October half-term. This follows the recent launch of the government's Household Support Fund (HSF) grant to support households in the most need with food, energy and water bills.

Through the fund, schools can support eligible pupils with a £15 voucher to cover the one-week holiday.

Linnets come out on top in shootout drama

FA Vase First Round

Burscough 1
 Garforth Town 1
 (Burscough won 6-5 on penalties)

BURSCOUGH won a thrilling penalty shoot-out against Garforth Town to progress to the next round of the FA Vase, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

The Linnets, who will travel to St Helens to play Pilkington in the next round, went behind in the 78th minute but rescued a draw thanks to a late header from Josh Quarless.

The match going straight to penalties which Burscough won 6-5.

Although there were no goals in the first 45 minutes the game had not lacked interest and Reynolds made a good diving save from a shot by Garforth striker James Burgess moments before half-time.

After the restart Danny Brady got forward to put a shot just over the Garforth crossbar.

Burscough were given a couple of serious scares, first Reynolds came off his line and saved from Burgess, which set up a right old scramble that was only ended by the application of a big boot clearance from Burscough's Mitch Kinsella. Then a misjudge-ment by Brady resulted in another scramble that the Linnets survived.

It was no surprise when Burgess scored the Garforth goal 12 minutes before the end it arriving after a period of pressure from the Yorkshiresmen.

Burscough raised their game after going a goal down and Josh Quarless hit the post as they pressed to save the game.

As it was the equaliser four minutes from the end was a well worked goal. Jack Hont overlapped down the left and played a wonderful ball into the penalty area, Quarless lost his marker and was able to coolly direct a header well away from keeper Wells and into the corner of the net to make it 1-1.

Burscough went first in the penalty shoot-out and after Denson gave them the lead, Jack McGahan blazed over the crossbar for Garforth, however Chris Lomax saw his spot kick saved by Wells. It went to the seventh player, Hont scored for the Linnets before Reynolds made his dramatic save.

It is a long way from Wembley yet, but Burscough are one of the remaining 64 teams.

Next match: Vauxhall vs Burscough. Saturday, October 30. Kick off 3pm.

Skem suffer cup upset at hands of Holker Old Boys

FA Vase First Round

Holker Old Boys 3
 Skelmersdale United 1

SKELMERSDALE United were on the receiving end of a cup upset after they were knocked out of the FA Vase at the hands of Holker Old Boys, who are a division below them, writes Kevin Panther.

Against the wind, Skem gave away too many needless free kicks outside of the box.

Holker took the lead on 31 minutes, with United not taking heed, it was Sean Patterson who fired home for the hosts.

Again, Ben Barnes came to United's rescue with a double save that kept out both Sean Patterson and Gareth Smith but was unable to come to the rescue right on half time as Kevin Watkin swept home a fine move, to leave Skem 2-0 down.

Alt was a frustrating start to the second half with Paul McNally's team probing trying to find a way back into the game without much success until the introduction on 70 minutes of recently returned Elliott Morris who found space on the edge of the box to chip home over the keeper and pull a goal back.

Only a goal down now Skelmersdale threw caution to the wind with forwards Richard Brodie and Kevin Towey were brought on as substitutes at the expense of the full backs as United's formation turned to a 2-3-5.

The changes did bring about some response but not the ultimately desired one of an equaliser. Morris had a shot that hit the bar and Brodie's header just went wide.

However, because of the Skem changes Holker were finding space at the back as United piled forward. On 85 minutes it was game up as Skelmersdale conceded a penalty which was duly dispatched by Jamie Hodgson to end United's stay in the competition.

Meanwhile, Skem's club physio Heather Vearncombe has been thanked by the club after she marked her five year anniversary serving at the club.

She came along back in October 2016, as successor to Michelle Roberts.

Heather has worked under subsequent managers, Alan Rogers, Dave Powell and now Paul McNally.

Heather has seen much turmoil at the club over the past few years but has always stayed loyal to the cause.

Skelmersdale United were keen to thank her for her hard work over the years.

Next match: Barnoldswick Town vs Skelmersdale United. Saturday, October 30. Kick off 3pm.

People who don't speak petrolhead won't get it!

Two companies have come up with very different ideas for what a new Range Rover should be

LIFE ON CARS

with

www.lifeoncars.co.uk

RUSSIAN oligarchs, gangster rappers and Kerry Katona will be delighted. The new Range Rover – soon to be appearing in the pages of Heat magazine as various 'slebs are snapped falling out of it – is upon us.

Annoyingly, it was only officially unveiled by Land Rover late last night after this week's Champion headed to the printers, and all the chaps behind the new fifth-generation off-roader could offer beforehand was a deliberately blurry teaser shot that confirms what you already knew. That it looks an awful lot like a Range Rover.

From what I've gleaned from online leaks it's business-as-usual. Evolution rather than revolution on the outside, more tech on the inside, and underpinnings that are – surprise, surprise – far more electric-friendly from the off. It's also widely rumoured to have a clever new system that lets the rear wheels do some of the steering, which should help make it feel far more nimble on the road, and more talented off it.

There's also no word on prices yet, but if it's anything more than the outgoing car's £83,525 entry price then I reckon it's got some unlikely competition from another car revealed, in a stroke of PR genius, the day before. The original Range Rover, albeit one given a 21st century boot up the backside. For £125,000 a small company called Kingsley Cars will take Britain's favourite mud-plugger in its two-door guise from the Seventies, kit it out with a modern, fuel-injected V8 and an uprated ZF auto 'box, and garnish its innards with Apple CarPlay and wireless charging for your smartphone. It'll even handle properly, as it's been equipped with modern day suspension and beefed-up anti-roll bars – but from the outside it's all but impossible to tell apart from a Seventies Range Rover. It's eye-wateringly expensive, but it's all too easy to spend that sort of money on a new Range Rover if you hit the options list, and this is much, much cooler.

Admittedly, championing a restomod over the real deal is a bit like today's bands complaining that they don't make any money because everyone's streaming Fleetwood Mac and Queen instead.but I like Queen and Fleetwood Mac. A Kingsley Rangie is never going to appear on MailOnline's sidebar of shame or be seized as part of an HMRC-instigated raid on suspiciously acquired wealth. It will never be papped with a Liverpool player at the wheel. Largely because it looks like a Seventies off-roader, and one that you can still pick up a tenth of what Kingsley charge for this one, if you shop around. It doesn't look like a car of the rich, famous and successful, and it's all the better for it. You have to explain what it is, because people who don't speak petrolhead won't get it.

So it's an overpriced old off-roader that the oligarchs will absolutely hate. Job done, then!

Classic Car Weekly

All of the current MINI range can be ordered in new Shadow Edition form

THE MINI's darker side is being put in the spotlight by a new UK-only special edition model. The Shadow Edition is similar to the standard Sport-spec models but adds in a Midnight Black paint job with a contrasting silver roof, while inside the all-black interior is kitted out with sports seats and a leather-trimmed steering wheel. The cheapest is the three-door hatchback, which starts at £22,340, but it's also available as a five-door, a convertible and in all-electric form.
